This Is PRINCETON

"IT'S WORTH TRYING"
One of a kind. The inspired use of mind and spirit to solve a human problem characterizes Princeton at its best.

In such a vein, one of its residents, Mrs. Barklie Henry of Fackler Road, has set her mind, spirit and energy toward a solution of the poverty problem in a small, single corner of a remote region in the Adirondack mountains of New York State.

Mrs. Henry's solution is her new company, Blue Mountain Designs, Inc. This enterprise hires the women of Blue Mountain to make tablecloths, tote bags, hooked rugs and — before long — knitted items, using contemporary designs and the women's own expert craftsmanship.

The company also contracts with the men of Blue Mountain to make fire tools, coffee tables and marble cheese "boards."

A Changed Life. The Henry family has known Blue Mountain and its year-round residents for many years. The people who live there are descendants of the men who were guides and workmen for wealthy hunters who built lavish "camps" in the area half a century ago.

Today, this way of life has changed. Blue Mountain's inhabitants work at the "camps" of the summer people, tend gas stations or make touristy souvenirs out of wood and when winter comes, their spring is far behind indeed.

"These small communities on the fringes of the social and industrial machine find so few ways to participate in our material benefits," Mrs. Henry points out, "and the financial impoverishment that results is accompanied by a loss of pride and spirit."

Mrs. Henry's idea for Blue Mountain Designs came as a result of the Henrys' new Blue Mountain house. Designed by Edward Larabee Barnes, it has many built-in features made by carpenters who worked for the local contractor hired to build the house.

Let's Try. "These men responded so to the design of the house!" Mrs. Henry exclaims. "They made beautiful built-in furniture, and we said, why

BRADLEY AT THE FETE: The Pied Piper of the Hospital Fete Saturday was Bill Bradley. Wherever he went, the basketball star was surrounded by flocks of adoring boys and girls asking for his autograph. He even shot a few baskets (and missed a few). It was Bradley's last informal appearance in Princeton; he will be graduated from the University on Tuesday. (Staff Photo) not show the finest in contemporary design to these people who are such skilled craftsmen?"

She went to Bussell Barrowman, industrial arts teacher at the local school. He leapt at her idea and gathered several Blue Mountain people together at the Henrys' house. The result of the meeting—"Well, it's worth trying."

Mrs. Henry had formerly been associated with Vogue and with the Museum of Modern Art and she had open channels in New York City. She picked up yards of exciting contemporary cottons designed by Win Anderson for Jack Lenor Larsen and took them back to the Blue Mountain women.

"You could actually hear the enthusiasm in that room as the women felt the textiles and began to talk about what they would do. They took all the fabrics home. I never saw them again until they were table cloths and place-mats."

Ideas, Ideas. Mrs. Henry, who had never heard the term "jobber," sought out wholesalers in the lower corners of Manhattan: "You don't want me, little lady," said one, "my minimum order is two tons, but I know a man . . ."

She wrote Ivan Chermayeff who had designed an exquisite star Christmas card and asked permission to use his design for a hooked rug. Mrs. Barnes, wife of the Henrys' architect, designed a "fire fork" to be hammered out by the Blue Mountain blacksmith and Mr. Barnes designed a coffee table to be made, during the idle winters, by men who worked for the building contractor.

Early in the game, Mrs. Henry encountered the labor laws of New York State. "Cottage industry" is illegal. The women would have to do their sewing in a "factory" under working conditions approved by the New York State Department of Commerce.

"This was certainly more than I had ever bargained for," Mrs. Henry explains, "but I couldn't NOT do it — it could mean so much to my neighbors."

In Business. So she incorporated "Blue Mountain Designs." It is her firm. It is her money that will pay the men and women until the books can show a profit. The women sew in a room in one of the Blue Mountain houses. The New York Inspector says only five women may work there at once, and since 15 women are on the payroll, they work, so to speak, in shifts.

Other women are eager to join, but Mrs. Henry has strict standards of performance: nothing turned out by Blue Mountain is by "loving hands at home."

"We feel that these 'one of a kind' communities are the best places to cultivate the 'one of a kind' approach to production," Mrs. Henry says, "but we also want to encourage young people, so we're planning to turn over five percent of our net to a Young Talent Fund which will give prizes in the arts to Blue Mountain's high school students. If we sell enough, maybe we can eventually give scholarships, or pay an art teacher to come once a week."

Georg Jensen in New York took all five of the tablecloths Mrs. Henry offered. In Princeton, the Gourmet has mats, ta-

"We have only been in op-we plan to start slowly," Mrs.

Henry warns. "I can't tell you the enthusiasm we have had from the Blue Mountain people — I just hope we can keep going for their sake."

Blue Mountain is beautiful country, like a Sung painting from the China that Mrs. Henry knew as a girl. Through her love for the region and her concern for its people runs a strong thread of morality, a sense that one cannot enjoy such beauty as a pleasure seeker without responding positively to the needs of one's neighbors. And Mrs. Henry's response has indeed been positive.

STORE AWNINGS SLASHED

At 29 Nassau, the awnings of three stores located in the 20 Nassau Building and that of a nearby drugstore were slashed over the weekend.

Two awnings on the side and one in the front were slashed at the corner store of Douglas MacDaid, a men's wear shop. Also victimized were another men's shop,
Harry Ballot, and The French
Shop, a women's dress store.
Leonard Caputi, manager of Marsh's Drug Store, 30 Nassau, reported a six-foot slash in his front awning. On Monday morning, the Nassau Barber
Shop, 13 Witherspoon
Street, called police to report that its outside, revolving barber's sign had been ripped off.

MAILBOXES RECOVERED

Fred Glinka, manager of the Cap & Gown Club, 61 Prospect Street, called police Thursday morning to report collection of stolen mailboxes that had been left in a pile near the club's patio.

Detective Fred Porter of the Township police reports there were 12 mailboxes, two road barrier signs with flashing lights and one newspaper receptacle in the collection.
Nearly all of the mailboxes had been taken from homes on Snowden Lane and Princeton-Kingston Road. They were returned to their owners.

TEEN GANG SENT HOME

By Borough Police. A group of some 40 Ewing township teenagers who rode into Princeton Friday night were sent back home in a hurry by Princeton police. "Just getting them out of town was a good thing," said Chief Peter J.
McGrohan. "We have enough trouble with our own."

After parking their cars on Tulane Street, the gang of youths were stopped by Sgt.
Michael Carnevale as they attempted to walk toward Nassau Street. Twenty-two of them were taken to police headquarters with the assistance of two patrol cars from the Township called to the scene. Police made no charges but warned the youths to leave town.

According to police, the youths told them they had come to Princeton to attend a dance at the high school. Police pointed out that the dance was open to Princeton students only. Chief McGrohan reported that none of them were dressed neatly. "They didn't come up here to go to any dance," was his estimate.

IN AND OUT

Ordinance Dies, Is Reborn. Borough Council tossed out its Jugtown-site plan package of ordinance Tuesday night and introduced two new ordinances in its place.

The new Jugtown ordinance raises the minimum square footage for B-4 businesses from 2,000 to 3,000 and extends the required closing time from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. It also solves, in part, the plight of John P. Servis, 30 Harrison Street, by redrawing the new B-4 zone lines so that his property is included. It doesn't solve the vexing problem of getting Mr. Servis the required Nassau Street frontage, but Council promised to consider this question further.

The new site plan ordinance is just about the same as the old. Public hearings on the two new ordinances will be held Tuesday, July 13, after both have been referred to and heard by the Planning Board at a special meeting on Tuesday June 22, in the Engineering Building.

Although everybody knew that the old ordinance would be allowed to die and two new ordinances would be introduced to replace it, the public hearing was held anyway. The arguments were about the same as the ones presented last week to the Planning Board, in many cases by the same people.

Let's Keep Reunions Dry

Sure, we need a Little rain, but
Let the Old Guard
March again!

We'll need rain for months to come, in view of the three-year-old drought, but things have been somewhat better during the past week. June, for example, has already produced close to an inch of rain.

The weekend forecast should please everyone involved in reunion activities and all others with outdoor plans: an early end to the heat and humidity, no more than seasonably warm through Sunday. Dry, too.

Princeton University, represented again by attorney Frank Reiche and John Moran, the University's director of physical planning, repeated its arguments against the site-plan proposal.

Home-owners, including Mrs. Paul Roediger, 361 Nassau, who was born in the Jugtown section; Dr. Alfred Cook who has offices at 361 Nassau, and five petitioners who had sent letters to Council, favor it because they believe it would keep the residential character of the neighborhood.

Presumably everybody will appear again, either on June 22 or July 13 or perhaps both, to reiterate.

Redding Appointed. John B. Redding Jr., 39 Linden Lane, was named to the Planning Board for a six year term succeeding Martin L. Beck, 30 Westcott Road, whose term expires Tuesday. Mr. Redding, a Democrat, is a former Borough Councilman, and head of J. B. Redding and Son, Inc., plumbing and heating contractors of 234 Nassau.

"I'm not interested in whether a man is a Republican or a Democrat," remarked Mayor Henry S. Patterson in announcing the appointment. "The Planning Board should represent all facets of the community and as a local businessman, Mr. Redding can add a great deal to Planning Board discussions."

Mr. Redding is among the merchants opposed to a parking ban on the south side of Nassau between Charlton and Murray Place. Mayor Patterson said Tuesday that traffic survey results in this area would be ready for consideration at the July 13 council meeting.

Council passed a $48,000 ordinance to buy a strip of land connecting the Spring Street and Lamplighter parking lots and to improve the entire new lot, and also appropriated $39,500 to widen and improve the Borough's section of Elm Road — between Rosedale and Westerly. (The county owns the part between Stockton and Rosedale).

"We don't plan a bike path right now; this is the steepest part of the road," said Mayor Patterson.

Council introduced an ordinance raising taxi fares within the Borough from 60 to 75¢. The last rate increase was five years ago. Public hearing on July 13.

In his police report, Councilman William H. Walker said that apparently the Mercer County juvenile judge had informed juvenile referee Howard Stepp that he was assuming Mr. Stepp's functions. Mr. Walker said there was, at this time, no explanation.

NINE YOUTHS CHARGED
In King's Inn Brawl. Nine Princeton youths, ranging in age from 18 to 22, have been charged by State Police with fighting, following a brawl at 12:40 Monday morning in the parking lot of the King's Inn, across from the Princeton —Continued on Page 5

 Kingston Bridge. In addition, two juvenile petitions have been signed by the police against two 17-year-old boys. Arrested for fighting and later released in their own recognition are Colin Leitch, 18, 106 Broadmead; Daniel Corvino, 20, 131 Jefferson Road; Robert James, 20, 2 Evelyn Place; Robert Smyth, 22, of Madison Street; Kevin Delaney, 20, 56 Jefferson Road; Donald Zuber, 20, 70 William Street; and Charles Smyth, 21, 321 Nassau Street. All are scheduled to appear this Thursday before Magistrate Adele Watson of South Brunswick Township.

They are charged with assaulting Norman Steward, 22, 309 Hodge Hall, Princeton Theological Seminary; William A. Gronlund, 21, 112 Gauss Hall, Princeton University, and Phillip Parmet, 23, 40 Dogwood Lane.

State Police report Mr. Steward was hit on the head by a lug wrench. He was taken to Princeton Hospital with lacerations of the head and body and a concussion and admitted for observation. Mr. Parmet was treated for a possible concussion and released.

Mr. Gronlund received scalp lacerations and bruises. He was treated at the University infirmary.

According to State Police, all of the defendants had been drinking. They had gone to King's Inn but the Inn had refused to serve them. None of the three who were attacked had been drinking, police added.

Just what started the fight is not yet clear, police continued. Following the fracas, one of the Princeton youths, Robert Smyth, lodged a complaint of assault against Mr. Gronlund.

Conducting the investigation were Troopers Robert McMahen and James Jones. They were assisted by members of the Borough and Township Police in rounding up the participants. Two cars were halted by Borough police, one driven by Leitch and a second by Delaney.

FOUR TRUCKS DAMAGED

In Pennington Blaze. Four lumber trucks and the garage in which they were housed were damaged Friday evening by a fire at the Woolsey and Cadwallader Lumber Yard in Pennington.

The interior of the concrete block garage and its roof were scorched by the flames. Though still not determined, the origin of the fire is thought possibly to have been the result of a short circuit in the wiring of the trucks. The Pennington Fire Company extinguished the fire, first discovered by an employee at 7:30.

Col. Walter G. Clatanoff

COL. CLATANOFF NAMED
 Red Cross Executive. A former U.S. Air Force officer, Colonel Walter G. Clatanoff, has been appointed director of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross. Jerald S. Hanks, chapter chairman, made the announcement.

Col. Clatanoff retired on March 31 after more than 30 years of military service. He was professor of air science and head of the Air Force ROTC program at Rutgers from June, 1961 until his retirement.

A 1932 graduate of Gettysburg (Pa.) College, he entered military service in 1935 as a second lieutenant. His service career included assignments on three continents.

Col. Clatanoff lives at 1298 Seneca Road, North Brunswick, with his wife and three children. He began his new duties on June 1.

According to Mr. Hanks, the Red Cross is planning to expand its program and increase its services and activities to meet Princeton Community needs.

DADDY OF 'EM ALL?
 Fete Is Success. John Reed of Westcott Road won the Mustang and the Hospital Fete Committee raked in a record gross.

The final net profit will not be announced until fall and it is Fete policy not to release gross figures, but Mrs. William Adamson Jr., co-chairman, said that the take was unquestionably a record one.

William Dobson, Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, won the baby Mustang and the children of Mr. and Mrs. James Hill won the portable stereo.

If you're hungry, there are still casseroles available, Mrs. Adamson said. Because of a slipup in communications, one freezer full of casseroles never got to the Fete, and gour-metts who would like to buy Borough Court by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. and five one may arrange for purchase by calling Mrs. Charles Jaffin in the Township last week by Magistrate Glenn B. Miller Jr.

In traffic court, Magistrate Tams fined Ernest E. Pigna, 18, Cherry Hill Road, $15 for failing to give a signal when making a turn. Because the youth has been involved in a number of traffic violations, Judge Tams revoked his license for 15 days and ordered that he must pass a re-examination by the Motor Vehicle Department. Benjamin Warren, 21, 52 Bayard Lane, paid $15 for the same violation.

By the way, it was the Board of Trustees who cleaned up on Sunday, not the Lions. The Lions patrolled the Fete on Saturday.

SEVENTEEN ARE FINED
 In Princeton Courts. Twelve persons were fined Monday in Fines of $12 each were levied against David S. Cramp, 30, 10 Westcott Road, who pleaded not guilty to a passing through a flashing red light without stopping, and Thomas A. Weaver, 19, 284 Dodds Lane, stop sign infraction. For

One Hundred Birthday Candles for Dr. Reeve

Saturday, June 19, will be "Dr. Malvern Reeve Day" in Rocky Hill, honoring the physician's 100th birthday. His birthday actually falls on June 17, but the celebration is planned for Saturday so that everybody can be there.

The parade starts at 2 p.m., forming in front of Dr. Reeve's house on Crescent Avenue. Led by an oldtime barge and buggy, such as he used many years ago, the parade will wind around town and back to his house.

In the line of march will be a young people's band, a hand pumper pulled by firemen of the Rocky Hill Hook & Ladder Company No. 1 (of which Dr. Reeve is a charter member) as well as Rocky Hill officials, Boy Scouts and well-wishers.

Dr. Reeve estimates that he has delivered some 3,000 babies in his day, and the parade committee is searching these now-grown-ups to join the marchers. Honors will go to the oldest and youngest.

The program will include a proclamation by the mayor declaring "Dr. Malvern Reeve Day," a scroll presented by the firemen and a special gift.

And there will be birthday cake — some for everyone.

speaking, Linda E. Vogt, 19, 255 Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck, paid $20, and Charles L. Dey 3rd, 21, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, $15, for careless driving.

In criminal court, John J. Janoski, 18, 105 Mountain Avenue, charged with assaulting a 20-year-old girl on the corner of Tulane and Nassau Streets last month, forfeited $200 bail for failing to appear. Police said a warrant is still out for the youth who, they say, has gone to Canada.

Charged with committing acts of indecent exposure near the Garden Theater last month, Jacob Packalain, 46, of Trenton, waived a preliminary hearing. He was held in $1,000 bail for action by a Grand Jury.

Four Princeton University students who were charged with walking down the center line of Nassau Street early in the morning, each paid $5 court cost. Judge Tans suspended all fines. In pleading guilty, the four said they had no thought of creating a disturbance, but were merely celebrating their release from the pressure of examinations.

LOSE LICENSE 60 DAYS. In Township court last week, Magistrate Miller suspended for 60 days the license of Melvin J. Best, 21, 214 Birch Avenue for driving 65 miles per hour in a 45-mile zone. He imposed no fine.

A University student, Ernest W. Barton Jr., 19, was fined $30 for careless driving. Other fines: Bruce A. Olson, 20, 23 Broadripple Drive, $10, careless driving; John R. Sloan, 17, Opossum Road, Skillman, $10, failing to yield to an emergency vehicle; and Philip Solomon, 26, 18 Harris Road, $10, driving the wrong way on a one-way street. Mr. Solomon pleaded not guilty.

SEEN YOUR TAX BILL?
Property Owner Question. "If you'd mailed the tax bills out on time so property owners would know how much of an increase they're faced with, a lot more people would be here to protest this ordinance," said Henry J. Frank, 126 Valley Road, at Township Committee Monday night.

Mr. Frank reminded Committee that tax bills should have been sent out on June 1 because the law says a property owner is entitled to see his tax bill two months before the first payment is due, and August 1 is the first deadline.

The ordinance he had in mind was the $3,650 authorization to pay for a feasibility study of the Harrop property. This is the land adjoining Community Gardens on the north where a community swimming pool may one day be built. Mr. Frank added that he questioned the entire overall expense of a recreation program, not just the $3,650.

Albridge C. Smith III, who doesn't live in the Township, rose to speak for the trustees of Community Gardens.

Committee promised to think about it.

Open Space. Continuing its policy of picking up Open Space, Committee introduced an ordinance to acquire 22.2 acres in the northwest part of the Township. The package consists of 10.5 acres owned by the University and 11.7 known as the "Pennypaeker tract." The cost will be $41,500, plus $1,000 in fees.

Preliminary approval has been received from the state's "Green Acres" program which means the state will pay 50% of the cost, and the Township will apply to Federal officials for an additional 30%. This means that the Township will pay only 20%. Public hearing on June 21.

Committee has $7,000 in state funds left over from realigning Alexander Road, and Committee decided Monday night to ask the state for permission to use the surplus for widening The Great Road.

Embattled property owners on Pretty Brook Road, who protested vigorously last month against their assessments for paving part of the road, had to swallow defeat Monday night, when Committee unanimously approved the assessor's report.

The paving cost is $20,335.91. By ordinance the Township would only have to pay one-third the cost, but assessors felt that property owners would not benefit by two-thirds, and so the Township is bearing almost 60% of the paving cost.

Rules Protested. New amendments to the land subdivision ordinance were protested by Albridge C. Smith, speaking as outgoing president of the Princeton Bar Association.

The increasing complexity of these rules and regulations is disturbing to lawyers and clients," Mr. Smith objected. "Property owners accuse us of making a Federal case out of something that seems simple to a layman . . ."

"We adopted these new rules because many plans submitted to the Planning Board didn't have the required information," Committeeman Foster explained, and Hans K. Sander, Planning Board member, said "These new rules just extend what has gone on for a long time."

The amendment requires Township engineer approval of minor subdivision sketch plans at least 20 days before the Planning Board meets; engineers' approval of preliminary subdivision plans and more Planning Board control over scheduling. There is also a new fee schedule.

Let the Children Listen.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Marching in the Princeton Memorial Day Parade with my Brownie Troop for the first time was a thrilling experience with a disappointing conclusion.

I feel that it was inappropriate to dismiss the majority of the marchers for free popsicles before the exercises at the Battle Monument began. Anyone marching should know why he is doing so; the post-parade services can help youngsters understand this.

Protests Spraying.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have written to the Mercer County Mosquito Commission:

I am protesting against your dangerous practice of indiscriminately spraying residential areas with health endangering insecticides.

Last Friday evening, May 28, at approximately six o'clock p.m. one of your trucks went up and down Jefferson Road in Princeton, smothering the entire area with thick clouds of D.D.T.

Our children were playing in the midst of these harmful fumes and many people were outraged about your high-handed action.

Not only was there a communications failure in not alerting the neighborhood in advance but by failing to do so you prevented the formation of any opposition to your measure.

A copy of this letter is being sent to Town Topics of Princeton.

RALPH HEYMANN

171 Jefferson Road

Metuchen, N. J.

Editor's note: Harold Black, superintendent of the Mercer County Mosquito Commission, says that the May 28 operation on Jefferson Road was undertaken after three residents had complained to the Commission about mosquitoes in the area.

It was "fogging" as opposed to "spraying," Mr. Black said. "Fogging" kills adult mosquitoes; "spraying" catches the larvae. Because the weather was unexpectedly warm early in May, mosquitoes hatched before the Commission could get around to spraying the larvae, and fogging expeditions have been necessary to kill the active adults.

Most mosquitoes seem to be in catch-basins, and larvae have been found in the water that collects in empty tin cans. The "fog" used could have been either DDT or malathion, Mr. Black said. He added that the Commission checks out its chemicals for safety with state chemists and with Rutgers.

"Affectionate Admiration."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

No one has more thoroughly earned the right to retire than Mrs. Geoffrey Sage, who

Parking Eased

Drivers may park all day without penalty in any Borough two-hour zone from June 16 to some time in August. Mayor Henry S. Patterson announced this week.

The suspension does not apply to meters, however: two-hour meters will be patrolled this week.

Wednesday, June 16, is the day construction starts on the new public library, and this means the start of demolition for the Wiggins Street parking lot.

Most of this lot is all-day parking, and cars will have no place to go until the Spring Street lot has been completed. Negotiations are still under way for the final bit of property needed to complete the Borough's plans for Spring Street and Mayor Patterson hopes that papers can be signed and the lot ready by August.

ORIOLES ONE UP

In Midget World Series, the first game of the Princeton YMCA Midget League World Series, a best-of-three affair, went to the Orioles as they defeated the Giants, 4-2, Monday on the Y diamond. The Giants are the defending champions.

The Giants led, 2-0, through the fifth but some loose defensive play cost them first a tie and then the game. Mark Sword was the winning pitcher.

The second game was scheduled for Wednesday, with the third, if necessary, to be played Friday. All series games are played at the Y field on Avalon Place.

HE'S THE HOSTAGE: Philip Paul as "Leslie," the hostage in Brendan Behan's play, is comforted by Clare Reidy, who plays "Teresa." The brogue-filled Irish comedy will play two more week-ends under the Community Players' banner in Murray Theatre.

News Of The THEATRES

"HOSTAGE" OPENS

For Three-week Run. It is a sad duty to report this week on the latest production of the Princeton Community Players, Brendan Behan's "The Hostage." It will run four more performances: Friday and Saturday of this week and Friday and Saturday, June 18 and 19, at Murray Theatre.

The past two or three excursions with the Players have been pleasant ones. "Oh, Dad, Poor Dad" gave us an amusing, sick-joke evening; "Look Homeward, Angel" was a giddingly solid achievement and last year's "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" was a good spring romp.

But this spring, Brendan has let us all down. "The Hostage" tells us about the events that occur in a lodging house-brothel in Dublin, an establishment managed by a middle-aged IRA man named Pat who had been a hero in the big days of the Irish rebellion.

Although it is now 1958, and Easter Week is long past, the old memories are still amusingly alive, and the IRA captures as hostage and takes to the lodging house, a young cockney soldier who will be held and shot if an Irish lad in Belfast is not reprieved from his scheduled hanging.

It is always risky to review a non-professional production on opening night and perhaps "The Hostage" will be better this weekend than it was last, but as it stood last Friday, it is not an offering we can recommend.

The trouble is that the acting just isn't good enough to carry the play's structural weakness. Sometimes in an amateur production, one or two actors will be so good that they make you forget the rest, and sometimes the play is so strong that almost nothing can shake it, but neither is true in "The Hostage."

an elderly, slightly dotty veteran of the Irish wars; Trevor Owens makes a believably Irish landlord with a stout republican heart; Philip Paul (the hostage himself) has a first-rate cockney accent, but these are not enough to sustain Belton's fragile offering.

Ah, yes—what of Behan? We heard much before "The Hostage" opened in Princeton, of his irreverence and his bawdiness and indeed the Players' program carries the Behan credo of "total irreverence for anything connected with society...."

But somehow it all seems embarrassingly pale and remote, at least to an American audience. It is true that Belton speaks without particular reverence of the church of England and priests, both Roman and Anglo; of the institution of royalty and indeed of the IRA itself, but there really isn't much here to raise either an eyebrow or a laugh.

When "The Hostage" was running—was it indeed on Broadway?—Behan himself, drunk as Saturday night, used to climb onto the stage and belabor his actors, frequently joining in the performance. Surely it was the expectation of seeing him thus that brought audiences to the play. How much else is there?

And perhaps Behan, through his alcoholic fuzz, realized that something wasn't quite right, something that could be fixed right now by a little tinkering while the machinery was in motion.

We could have used him on stage at Murray Theatre last weekend.

—Katharine Bretnall

PLAYHOUSE

Young Cassidy (thru Tues.) is a considerably romanticized, even fictionalized, version of the autobiography of Irish playwright Sean O'Casey. Before his death last year, he is said to have approved the choice of Rod Taylor in the title role.

The early 20th Century story concerns a young, bitter Irishman who lives in Dublin with his mother (played by Flora

WHY NOT CLIP & SAVE FOR REFERENCE

DELIGHTFUL DAISY: Rod Taylor as Cassidy and Julie Christie as Daisy, the music hall entertainer, put aside the Irish rebellion for a romantic interlude in "Young Cassidy."

Robson; his sister and her children, and an actor brother. It is a life of grinding poverty. Cassidy yearns to write, confining most of his pieces to inflammatory attacks on the English. He also trains with the Irish underground. His play causes a riot on opening night at the Abbey Theatre.

Rod Taylor plays the fiery playwright with depth and integrity. Maggie Smith is touching as the woman he loves and leaves. Also in the cast are Michael Redgrave, Dame Edith Evans and members of the Abbey Theatre. Julie Christie is introduced in the role of a teasing vixen, and she carries every scene she is in.

comes vividly to life. There is squalor and bitterness, but there is rousing humor as well.

GARDEN

Synanon (thru Tues.) is a sympathetic casebook on drug addiction. Synanon House in Santa Monica is a rehabilitation center for junkies run by ex-junkies.

The scenes are stark, sometimes melodramatic, as the camera recounts the story of young Zankie's fight to kick the habit. Edmond O'Brien plays the real life role of Chuck Dederick, head of Synanon, a man who battles with financial and legal problems while trying to hold the Synanon program together.

Alex Cord in the role of Zankie is totally fascinating. He makes a dramatic contrast with the film's general statement of hope. Chuck Connors and Stella Stevens typify the average Synanon resident, led into crime or prostitution to satisfy their drug cravings.

There is a documentary flavor to the film, heightened by scenes shot on the premises and by the presence of many of the actual residents in the cast.

PRINCE

The Amorous Adventures of Moll Flanders. (Now playing through Tuesday) This version of the Daniel Defoe classic has been termed "Tom Jones" with a cleavage. The year is 1720, a bawdy free-swimming time in Old England. Kim Novak is the flirtatious orphan, Moll Flanders who survives an almost ruinous road from rags to riches. She is essentially the happy whore, first seduced in the linen closet by the mayor's son.

Richard Johnson, a Shakespearean actor, is Jemmy the handsome highwayman. Angela Lansbury appears as Lady Blystone and Italian film director Vittorio De Sica is Lady Blystone's lover.

Also in the cast are Lilli Palmer and George Sanders. The acting around Kim Novak is so competent that she is swept along into her best portrayal to date.

ART FILMS SET

By Study Group. The 1965-66 plans of The Cenacle, a new film study group at Princeton University, include a series of 16 film classics, experimental films, guest lectures by critics and film personalities and the establishment of a permanent film library.

IT'S NEW To Us

MATCH, MATCH
With Ruffles. Voile, an old-fashioned fabric if there ever was one, has been freshened up for 1965 by an alliance with dacron and the dacron-cotton combination has been formed into a ruffly feminine collection of Majestic separates now at Nevius-Voorhees.

Lined where necessary, the voile is either solid or print. In solid form, it's a wonderful ripe cantaloupe color, a good hot lime or powder blue. Printed, it's in blue or beige.

We found a separate skirt in the soft pleats that may be heralds of the return of the full skirt. There's an A-line skirt, too, and both styles have a soft little tie in front.

Wear with these bright skirts a blouse with a wide neck ruffle and dandy ruffles at the wrist. A sleeveless tuck-blouse has a tailored neckline ending in a bow. A bright lemon shirt, to wear with the beige print, has a tucked bosom.

Sporttempo adds to the fun with a dacron-cotton crepe shirt with open collar, white front and grey-yellow stripes. You wear it with a pale yellow arnel skirt, permanently pleated, changing off with a simple yellow arnel popover. Blues in this collection, too, if you have enough yellow.

Moving from separates to singles, we come to a white rayon linen shift with an eight inch band of embroidery down the front and a wide blue insertion of ribbon. Nardis of Dallas sends up a chalk-white arnel pleated skirt, sharp as starch, and a white overblouse with royal and navy diamonds at the hem.

Swimming this summer? Nevius is, slipping into its junior size two piece of white pique, the one with navy braid trim, very short white shorts and

And did you know that many business firms use Tiger transportation? Various departments go off for the day to see how somebody else runs it, factory, or to attend conference or convention in, say, Atlantic City.

Tiger will go overnight, of course, and is even now preparing to take Princeton's Young Life youngsters out to Colorado. For a long trip, you may have the seats removed, if you wish, and tables installed or bridge or paper work.

Talk things over with Don West or with Dick Panicore, the general manager, or with Al Marcus. Probably you should allow about a week for our charter to be arranged but shorter periods of time are OK, if you have sudden plans.

FOUR FOR TEA

Silver, from Victoria. A four-piece coin silver tea set, made in Boston in 1857 for Jones, Shreve, Brown and Company, awaits on the tea table at The Silver Shop on Palmer Square, or some bride with an appreciation for antiques.

It's a fine set, with an acorn motif and acorn finials, and the Silver Shop thinks the owner will find its waste bowl especially decorative (and versatile).

Near by, perhaps ready to walk out with the tea set, is a handsome silver dropleaf 175 years old in mint condition. It seats ten when opened, but sits quietly and unobtrusively against the wall when its leaves are down.

Several small pieces of silver will tempt you and the ladies on your list this June. One is a ladle with a deep pouring lip, ebony handle and curious little serpentine brace between handle and bowl. Six bouillon spoons in the deeply repousse pattern of "Mary and Rose" were made in 1910 by Jenkins and Jenkins for some lucky Edwardian bride. The Victorian hors d'oeuvre plate—a compote, really, has an interesting engraved border.

Brass makes its appearance in an oblong trivet standing four inches tall, and a round trivet made just like a three-legged piecrust table. The oblong one is the kind used to hold a teakettle on the hearth, way back when.

Here is a pair of Queen Anne candlesticks, six inches tall, made of brass and not only worn to a deep patina by time, but actually rubbed smooth by many hands so that the fluting on the columns is almost smooth. These square-based sticks have plungers in the bottom to use for ejecting the candle stub. Modern designers, please copy.

The Fitzhugh pattern is represented in six Spode coffee cups that are larger than demitasse, smaller than standard. They are traditional blue on that milky blue-white, all in perfect condition. Minton competes with a pair of compotes: they are white, trimmed with gold and bright turquoise, made in 1840 and almost surely designed to be placed on a high shelf because the charm of their open-work bases can only be appreciated when viewed from below.

Ever meet Mary Sidney, Countess of Pembroke? Dead now, you know. She was a lady in waiting to Elizabeth I, and in 1597, she had her portrait painted on wood. The detail of lace ruff, bodice pearl and delicate finger is almost photographic, and her garnet warmth is a mellow note in a 20th century world.

MUSIC In Princeton

EXPERIMENT IN MUSIC

With 14 Size Violinists, Miss Barbara Beissel of 257 Nassau Street, tossed an armful of theories about child music education out the window about a year ago. She's been happy about it ever since. The thing that encouraged her was an awesome recital by ten young violinists, ages 5 to 13, at the Lawrence Township Junior High School in March, 1964. Directed by Shinichi Suzuki, the moppets played the Bach Double Violin Concerto, Vivaldi's A-minor Concerto and the first movement of Eccles' Violin Sonata in G Minor.

"I'd never heard the Eccles before," Miss Beissel said the other day at her home. "It was so beautiful that everybody was almost in tears. . . . These little children played with such wonderful, expressive, phrasing and interpretation."

"They had excellent bow control, a good tone quality with vibrato, and very accurate intonation. It was just astounding!"

Miss Beissel, a longtime student of violinist Anshel Brusilow and violist Max Arnoff of Philadelphia, knows what it means to work for an hour or more on one phrase of music. Now a teacher of instrumental music and chorus at Eldridge Park School, she also knows musicians' theories about training children. The little ones aren't ready.

"Having seen Suzuki's results, I had to find out how he did it!" She cornered him after the concert and spoke to him through an interpreter.

While researching for her master's degree in music at Columbia, she had found mention of Suzuki's "Talent Education Program." "So I had an inkling that it was rote teaching that he began with little kids." Suzuki demonstrated some of his methods for her, and she later heard a second performance at the Music Educators' Conference in Philadelphia.

Started With Six-Year Olds. With a few weeks of the Lawrence concert, Miss Beissel, completely excited about the potential of the Suzuki teachings, gained endorsement from school authorities and set up an experimental class of 6-year olds. She soon had youngsters "PEOPLE HAVE SAID that at this age, children are not supposed to have fine muscular coordination, but still they can play all these things on the violin! I can't figure it out!" says music teacher Barbara Beissel (above) with her Suzuki violin pupils (from left) Tommy Rill, 7; Cynthia Thomas, 6; Karen Zeis, 6, Chris Gotlieb, 6, and Bruce Kraut, 7, Story, this page. (Staff Photo) hanging around the doorways.

"Suzuki believes that a child should be taught music in the same way he learns to talk. He will hear music around him for quite a time, then he will begin to play it, and then begin to read it."

A violinist himself, Suzuki began his program in Japan about 15 years ago as a post-war contribution to his nation's morale. There are now about 8,000 students trained or in training at 45 centers throughout Japan. An early student, Tosiya Eto, teaches at Curtis Institute.

His theory is that all children have great potential, capable of development at a very early age. "Not all reach the same level, but each can achieve in other fields the equivalent of his skill with his mother tongue."

Listen First. Miss Beissel, a warm-hearted woman whose students trail her in the halls, set to work with  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$  and  $\frac{3}{4}$  size violins. She stocked "Listen and Play" instruction books by John Kendall (who studied the Suzuki method in Japan) and bought a set of violin recordings. "I read everything I could get my hands on."

The children, all agog, began with the recordings, hearing them many times. They did game-exercises with their pint-size violins to develop the left hand position. Even learning bowing and fingering was a game. Soon they were playing songs while marching around follow-the-leader fashion, and they recently gave a concert. "They have a good time," little Karen Seiz, mother says. "They're so proud of what they can do!"

Karen, now 6, watched the lessons last spring and knew most of the songs when she began with the class in the fall. When she was given her latest book, Miss Beissel told her she'd get her lesson later. "Karen gave me that cute, toothy smile of hers, and the next thing I knew, I heard the first song coming from across the hall!"

Sue laughed, adding, "All of my little ones can read music—not that I've taught them. The instruction books show the fingerings over the notes. The children associate what they see with what they play. They just figure it out for themselves."

"WORTH EVERY PENNY," says Howard Grant (right) when questioned about the high cost of our nation's space program. Walter Tuomisto agrees, pointing out that though the cost is high, our own country gets it all back.

Question of the Week

Question: In your opinion, is research and advancement fine, then I feel it is worthwhile. I don't agree with the argument of being first on the moon just for the sake of being first. This is ridiculous.

Where asked: Palmer Square.
Howard Grant, Plainsboro, carpenter for Matthews Construction: Sure it's worth every penny. It's got to be because we have to stay up with the Russians or ahead of them. If this is something to be used for war—we hope it isn't—but if it comes to that and Russia gets way ahead of us, we'll be lost. And it provides a lot of employment for this country.

Walter Tuomisto, Cranbury, carpenter for Matthews Construction: I would say so. It supplies a lot of jobs for people in this country. We may be spending a lot of money but our own country is getting it back. One thing, it's keeping our money over here. Also, there's probably a lot of truth in the statement that whoever controls space will control the world.

Mrs. Carol Johnson, Yardville secretary: Sometimes I wonder if they couldn't spend more on medical science. But it's necessary to spend it on space, too, or we'd be left behind. Russia will beat us out. I don't know how much is being spent on space but between the two, I think medical research is more important.

Miss Phyllis Reed, Hamilton Square, secretary: If this money is being spent in a sense of competition then I don't necessarily agree it is being spent wisely. But if it is being spent in the sense of scientific research, I think it is. I think we'll get something out of it, something scientifically beneficial. And we have to keep up with the Russians; we can't afford not to.

Lawrence A. Menefee, Baltimore, architect: Yes, because I think the cost is relative to the ultimate value. The byproducts of the technology and research going into the space program will definitely benefit mankind. What does billions of dollars mean in terms of our gross national product? So you reduce the space program a few billion. Are you going to reduce taxes at the same time?

Miss Susan Waring, Belle Mead, nurses' aide: I think it is. I think it is very important as far as science is concerned. Basically, it is not a matter so much of keeping up with the Russians as it is just finding out new things. I think space exploration will determine a lot about our own planet.

William McCarroll, Lawrenceville, chemist for RCA Labs: Yes, I believe it is. I believe man's curiosity is going to drive him towards that, man has always explored things and he is going to continue to. We can't tell what is going to come of this but it's well worth the effort. It's of scientific value and it is a first step in the exploration of space. It certainly has propaganda value as well—no question about that.

George Kerner, 15 Forester Drive, production manager: On balance, I think so. We have to keep up with the technology of space. If we don't, we will be phased out by the Russians and in the technology age this could have very serious consequences. We should strive to keep ahead for our own self-interest. It's also a spur to technological achievement.

Glenn Holtzman, Holiday Inn, engineer for EAI, Route 1: Yes, I think so. I believe progress is worth a lot of money; the minute we stand still is the time we go backwards. So to expend money for project broadening man's horizons and exploring outer space is well worth the cost, especially in light of world events and other nations which are spending money in these areas.

Donald Petronella, Trenton, assistant manager, Saks Fifth Avenue, Nassau Street: I think so. From it, I think we will obtain many advantages. I think we'll probably learn a lot more about the weather than what we know now; supremacy in outer space is at stake. I feel there will be a lot of offshoots from this which we aren't aware of right now.

G. R. Richards, Hampton, Ohio, retired: I feel it is. The government will spend the money one way or the other, and space is good clean sport.

Robert Beard, Edwards Place, associated with Princeton University: I feel it has to be done and I don't see any other way to do it. This is one of these necessary exploration efforts—you can't predict the outcome—but you have to go ahead and try. It's like searching for new minerals. There's no guarantee of success, yet you often end up finding something more valuable than what you were searching for.

Eugene Randapp, 23 Linden Lane, psychologist: Yes and no. I feel the money could be spent more profitably on other types of research and development—mental health, cancer and so forth—but on the other hand, I feel we have no choice, in the sense we are committed to a race to the moon with the Russians. It's not an easy answer. If we pull back now and the Russians pull way ahead, it will determine the outcome of the power struggle very definitely in terms of the uncommitted nations. If Russia wins, these nations will come under their sphere of influence.

A voice for the silent

This artificial electronic larynx, when held against the side of the throat, transmits sound waves. These waves are passed up the throat and formed into words by movements of the lips and tongue, as in normal conversation. For people who cannot talk because something has happened to their vocal cords, it's a godsend.

There's also a telephone for the hard-of-hearing that has a special volume control built into the receiver. Amplifying equipment, special bells, lights and other signaling devices, school-to-home service for bedridden students — all these things are available to meet the needs of the handicapped.

And we are now studying other possibilities that could be very meaningful. For example: changes in telephone instruments to enable a deaf person to feel in his fingers letters or words transmitted to him in code, or see them reproduced in front of him.

Designing and producing items like these serve the special needs of our customers. We believe in providing the best possible service to meet these special needs.

A bachelor's degree with departmental honors was awarded to Miss Frederica Godshalk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Godshalk of Princeton Junction by Hood College. ### SUMMER OF MUSIC SET

At High School The 14th summer of music for pupils in fifth through 12th grade will begin June 28 at Princeton High School where instrumental lessons, orchestra and band will be offered.

These summer sessions afford the opportunity for accelerated study. They are conducted by a staff of specialists in strings, woodwinds, brass and percussion with the approval of the Board of Education.

A new course this year will be the guitar, in keeping with the increased popularity of that instrument. Beginning, intermediate and advanced lessons in the folk guitar will be given by Mrs. Marian Lombard.

Sessions run for five weeks and are held every morning. Tuition is $35 a course. Enrollment will be held the week of June 21 at the high school from 2 to 4 p.m., or in advance by mail if approved by the school music teacher. Further information may be obtained from Sylvan Friedman, director of the music sessions, at 924-3225, after 5.

A 7,000 mile fuel consumption test by one of the country's leading petroleum marketers proved the 190 D travels more than 30 miles per gallon. And Diesel fuel, available practically anywhere, costs about 40% less than gasoline.

Come on in and we'll give you more proof why the Mercedes-Benz 190 D is the world's most economical full-size car.

Person To Person

We read that archaeological evidence indicates that no human community ever existed without knowing about fire and how to kindle it. The so-called Peking man, who lived many thousands of years ago, used fire, and they say that the most ancient "man" known used a crude tool and fire in reverence. Early Greek philosophers believed fire to be a fourth principal element, the others being earth, water, and air, and for a long time it was considered a basic part in the make up of all bodies. In the 16th, 17th, and 18th centuries A. D. fire was thought to be the source of all chemical action. Mr. Mathiasen has been a leading figure on the Danish-American society for hospitality to visiting individuals and groups, a trustee and officer of the Danish Home for the Aged, and was active in financing its establishment in a new location at Croton-on-Hudson. He has twice been president of the New York Chapter of the American Scandinavian Foundation. In recognition of his services, he was designated Knight of the Order of Dannebrog by the King of Denmark, and was awarded the King Christian X Freedom Medal.

In business, Mr. Mathiasen has been concerned with the production of architectural terra cotta. He is now chairman of the board of the Federal Seaboard Terra Cotta Corporation. The cup will be presented by Malcolm B. Lowe, president of the class, Saturday at the Nassau Club.

$2 million non-profit nursing care center near Princeton, N.J. offers unequalled care and comfort hospital-like features

The new $2 million Meadow Lakes Nursing Care Center in Hightstown, New Jersey—part of the magnificently landscaped Meadow Lakes Village retirement community—is now accepting resident nursing patients. This modern 90-bed Center provides—at reasonable cost—the most comprehensive nursing care available anywhere, combined with facilities and services usually associated only with hospitals.

Patients are cared for by a staff of 42 nurses. Registered nurses are on duty 24 hours a day.

Medical facilities include: x-ray, dental, examination, laboratory and testing equipment, a pharmacy, supervised bathing rooms—and a Department of Physical Rehabilitation; diathermy, hydrotherapy, massage.

Fine meals are served from Meadow Lakes' $500,000 kitchen—operated by world-famous Stouffers, with their own dieticians and chefs. Patients select from a varied daily menu—and all special diets carefully observed. There are convenient floor kitchens in each wing.

The Center is non-profit and sponsored and operated by The Presbyterian Homes of the Synod of New Jersey, Inc. It is entirely non-sectarian. Private rooms are $165 per week; semi-private rooms $125 per week.

There are no extra charges. The basic rate includes round-the-clock nursing care, meals, etc. and use of all medical facilities and services in the Center. Physicians and drugs are paid for by the patient, who may select his own physician, or use our staff members from the Princeton Medical Group.

Each spacious room is handsomely appointed and decorated and opens on landscaped courtyards and gardens. Every room has a lavatory, individually controlled heating and air-conditioning, private telephone, a direct patient-nurse Executone communications system, built-in dresser and ample closet space.

Beautiful public areas include 2 large solariums or day rooms and 2 patients' dining areas—all of which can also be used for TV and other social activities.

Patients may use the recreational and community services (barber and beauty shops, hobby and craft rooms, etc.) of Meadow Lakes Village.

Besides the cost advantages, modern medical and nursing facilities, and beautiful surroundings—it is the environment of competent, sympathetic, personal care which makes the Meadow Lakes Nursing Care Center so unique. As one of our residents put it, "Here I am treated as a friend—not a patient."

Please visit, if convenient, or write for further details—without obligation.

SPORTS In Princeton

BIG 3 TITLE IN REACH
For Tiger Baseball Team. A chance to win the Big Three title, an achievement it has not managed in several years, is open Saturday to the Princeton baseball team. The Tigers will end their 1965 season with the annual Reunion Day game against Yale on Clarke Field at 1 p.m.

Upwards of 5,000, most of them members of classes returning for the traditional mid-June alumnae activities, will watch the contest. The teams have divided their first two games, Princeton winning, 5-1, at New Haven last month, and the Elis coming back for a 5-3 triumph there Saturday. Meantime, the Tigers have an 8-0 shutout over Harvard to their credit, whereas the Crimson has beaten Yale, so that a Princeton victory Saturday will place it in the dominant role among these three old rivals.

As might be expected, the disappointment at losing on the trip to Omaha and the College World Series affected the Tigers' play at New Haven last week. They gave a lackluster, five-error performance in losing to Yale and all three of their pitchers were scored on.

The pitching, actually was perfectly sound — Tom Scott, John Redpath and Graham Marcott holding the Elis to three hits — but the five misplays continually gave the home team scoring opportunities. Scott started, Redpath was the loser when Yale broke away from a 2-2 tie with a pair in the last of the fifth and Marcott worked the last two rounds.

Captain Jack Singer, continuing his hot hand at the plate, collected three of Princeton's eight hits, one of them a triple. The defeat set the Tigers' record at 20 and 8, while Yale remained below the .500 mark at 13-15.

The outcome of the Army-Navy game at West Point, a 7-2 triumph for the cadets, gave them the Eastern League title and left Princeton tied for the runner-up spot with Dartmouth. Both have 6-3 records. In Omaha, meanwhile, play in the College World Series began Monday with Lafayette representing District II. The seven other entries were Connecticut, Ohio State, Florida State, St. Louis, Washington State, Texas and Arizona State. The last named ranked as the favorite off its fabulous 49-7 record, a season made possible by the fact that — contrary to football, basketball and hockey — there is no NCAA limit on the number of games a team may play and Arizona State opens its season in early February.

LETTERMEN LOST: 18

Football Losses Heavy. When diplomas go to the Class of 1965 on Tuesday, 18 of its departing members will be particularly remembered by football coach Dick Colman. In their three years of varsity play, they helped Princeton win 21 games while losing only 8, never knew defeat by Yale, and last fall were the guiding force on the team that rolled to a perfect season.

So well balanced is the group of 18 diploma-bound seniors that they actually constitute a solid starting team that could give an extremely good account of itself in two-way football and have half a dozen sound reserves to back it up. Four of them, for example, were all-Ivy; Captain Cosmo Iacavazzi was a two-year all-American.

It is a football rarity when a class goes all the way through college and still is well represented at every position by the end of its senior year. Whereas the two lower classes between them will normally have sufficient good players at one or more positions so that the seniors will have been beaten out, this was not the case with the Class of 1965.

The departing seniors could field two topflight ends, a pair of fine tackles, a solid center, and would be a big weak in the line only at guards. The starting backfield — and it is worth emphasizing that it could play extremely good two-way football in this latest era of specialists — would consist of either Doug Tufts or Lynn Sutcliffe.

at wingback, Roy Pizzarella or Don Roth at quarterback, Cosmo Iacavazzi at fullback and Don McKay, tailback.

By positions, these are the losses:

Ends: Jack Singer, Jim Hackett, Jim Batcheller. Hackett was All-Ivy on defense, but all three could play both ways. Also listed an end, but actually, a specialist, is Pete Riley, who handled the punting chores for the past three years.

Tackles: Ernie Pizzarella, 225-lb, All-Ivy selection. Wendall Cady and Don Pett. All three were starters—Pizzarella on offense, the other two on defense.

Guards: The lone spot where any appreciable weakness existed in the Class of '65. Neither Ned Porter nor Dick Jones won letters until their senior year, although both saw a fair amount of reserve action last fall.

Center: Mike Smith, out of football as a sophomore, hampered by injuries as a junior but the regular on offense throughout his final year.

Quarterbacks: Pizzarella and Fred Gouldin, the former a tremendous take-charge player in whom the team had complete faith as a field general. Gouldin is a dependable three-year reserve.

Halfbacks: Don McKay, Doug Tufts, Don Roth, Lynn Sutcliffe, John O'Brien. The first two were the starting tailback and wingback on offense, key members of an attacking unit which averaged better than three touchdowns a game. Roth was All-Ivy on defense, a tremendous bulkhead as a cornerback. Sutcliffe, too, was an experienced starter on defense, while O'Brien could be used both ways.

Fullback: The best in Princeton's near full century of football, Iacavazzi invariably played both ways while the outcome was in doubt. The team's leading groundgainer with 909 yards for a highly unusual 5.3 average from the fullback position, he takes with him both the career rushing and scoring records set previously by two Princeton immortals, Dick Kazmaier and Hobey Baker.

Only two other Ivy teams, Dartmouth and Yale, will lose more seniors than Princeton. None will match the Tigers in the quality of those who graduate this month.

PHS DROPS FINALE

6-5. In Extra Innings. Sentiment doesn't win ball games. If it did, it would demand that Ed Phrang's two-run single which tied Friday's final contest of the season with Cathedral would stand up and that Princeton High School would continue its comeback and defeat the visitors.

That's what sentiment would have decreed because Ed was a senior who had played precious few innings as a varsity player and that game—a tying, two-run single was his first hit of the season. But there was to be no happy ending. Instead, Ed, sentiment and the Little Tigers lost out to reality.

Two innings later, in the last of the eighth, with two men on and two out, and PHS trailing by one run, Phrang popped out to end it. The final score: Cathedral 8, Princeton 5. It was the first extra-inning contest for the losers.

For the Little Tigers it was their 13th defeat in 18 games. Fitting, perhaps, because the Blue and White was not long on luck this season. For coach Harry Zoll, it was the end of a long season in which he had to guide a team that batted .178 and scored 48 runs—less than a game—while yielding 74, only 41 of which were earned. For Phrang, that one hit in five at bats gave him a .200 average and sixth place in the list of leading PHS hitters.

Everybody Plays. In the finale, every single player of the 20-member PHS squad got in the game. Zoll fielded an all-senior squad at the start: Wayne Martin, Bob Mooney, Ken Ward, Curt Schaefer, in-field: Paul Barrett, Bill Bar-bench, Zoll called out to Fischer: "When you walk a pitcher, he always comes home to roost."

In the third, PHS got three runs on one hit. Ken Ward reached first when he slid under a throw and Paul Walstad got on via an error. Curt Schaefer then stroked a clean shot between first and second, scoring Ward and Walstad, but got caught in a rundown between second and third. Cathedral handled the play poorly, however, finally throwing the ball away and Schaefer scampered home.

In the sixth, Tommy Wood was hit by a pitched ball with one out. Wood, who was scheduled to relieve Fischer on the mound, had to retire and Curt Mitchell went in to run for him. Billy McQuade, pinch-hitting for Fischer, rapped a single, Mitchell reaching third and McQuade taking second on the throw. This set the stage for Pfrang's heroics.

THREE HONORED BY YMCA: Lesley Bush, B. Franklin Bunn and Bill Bradley were all honored at the annual meeting of the Princeton YMCA at the Princeton Inn. Herbert W. Hobles (left) was master of ceremonies.

In the top of the eighth, Cathedral's Carmen Nitti circled the bases for the winning run. Nitti singled, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and stole home on a squeeze play. In its last chance, after two were out, Princeton placed men on first and second as Lou Balestrieri, pinch-hitting and the 20th player to see action, and McQuade walked. Once again the stage was set for Pfrang to play the hero, but it was Joe Harding, third PHS pitcher, to take the loss.

Final Averages. As a team, PHS was not impressive at the plate. Gil Turner finished on top among Little Tiger batters with a .277 mark. Others hitting .200 or higher were Tommy Wood, .244; Ken Ward, .210; Curt Mitchell, .205, and Pfrang, .200. Regulars Paul Walstad, Bill McQuade, Paul Barrett and Wayne Martin were bunched between .174 and .163.

In pitching, Fischer struck out 44 in 43 and 2/3 innings, winning two and losing six. Sophomore Tommy Wood was the team's only winning hurler with a 3-0 mark. His ERA was a niggardly .89. Rifkin was 0-4 and Harding, 0-3. The winning run scored by Cathedral off Harding was the first earned run allowed by Joe in nine innings.

During the season, PHS failed to connect for a home run. Two were hit against it, both by Trenton. There were three triples, one each by Ward, Schaeffer and McQuade.

Three Pitchers Back. If pitching counts 85 percent in high school ball, as Zoll maintains, then PHS will have a running start on battering its present record in 1966. All its pitchers with the exception of Rifkin return. When not on the mound, Wood will play first base.

Also returning are Curt Mitchell, who like Wood is only a sophomore this year, and Billy McQuade and Lou Balestrieri. Upon these players will rest the burden of returning winning baseball to Princeton. In the past two years, the Little Tigers have won but a total of ten games.

BRADLEY HONORED
At YMCA Meeting. Bill Bradley was honored by the people of Princeton through a special award presented by Mayors Harry S. Patterson of the Borough and Carl C. Schaefer of the Township at the annual meeting of the Princeton YMCA. Bradley spoke before 250 guests at the Princeton Inn.

Tribute was paid to B. Franklin Bunn, who will be 90 this month, by Herbert W. Hobles, master of ceremonies. Olympic diving champion Lesley Bush received a scroll, presented by the Raymond F. Male, former Mayor of Princeton.

Dr. Elmer W. Engstrom, chairman of the YMCA Board of Trustees, gave the annual report, and A. C. Reeves, Hicks, president of the Y, spoke of its numerous advantages. The Rev. Hugh Liffiton, pastor of St. Andrews Church, offered the invocation and closing prayer.

School's crack miler, ran the mile in 4:28 Saturday to capture third place in the annual state meet held at the Rutgers University stadium. Bart Bennett finished fourth in the low hurdles to account for the five points scored by the Little Tigers. Jay's time was three seconds slower than the winning time of 4.25. Although he did not take top honors — Gallagher had run a 4.23 mile in May — Jay had the satisfaction of beating his arch rival from Trenton, Dave Bradley, by 15 to 20 yards. Bradley failed to finish among the first five.

"Jay ran a good race," commented PHS coach Jerry Groninger. "He ran a real good third quarter lap and for a few moments I thought he had it."

Co-captain Andy Kulley al- most placed in the shot with a creditable toss of 52-11 but he had to settle for sixth. "Had he thrown his best, I think he would have finished fourth, maybe third," said Groninger. The winning mark was a hefty 61 feet.

Kulley, of course, and all those who participated in the day-long meet, were confronted with the stern challenge of competing against the best from all corners of the state.

"We had a pretty good year," summed up Groninger, who admitted, in answer to a question, that his team had done better than he thought it would at the start of the campaign. One of the reasons, he added, was that the team had better balance than previous ones.

"I think our setting four school records is an example of the year we had. That's pretty unusual and all of those were made 13 to 15 years ago." New marks were set this spring in the mile, shot, low and high hurdles.

1966? What about next year? How much talent returns? "We'll be all right in the weight events, especially the shot and in the javelin where we have four of six coming back," said Groninger. "We'll be hurt most in the distances — Gallagher, Carl Giese and Roger Conant, all our distance runners, will be gone."

In addition, the graduation of Bill Aiken and Jerry Lyden will leave a big hole in pole vault, but Groninger hinted there was some potential in the jayvee squad to fill in the gaps. And since Groninger has shown repeatedly in his four-year tenure as head coach an ability to squeeze the best out of his material perhaps another superior Little Tiger track squad is in the offing.

AIRPORT SPONSORS PLANE
In Women's Air Derby, Princeton Aviation, Route 206, sponsored a pair of pilots in the 15th Women's International Air Race, "Angel Derby," between New York and Nassau in the Bahamas. The airport provided a Piper Cherokee 140 and paid expenses for Dr. Helen Zubrow and Mrs. Anne M. Shields, both of Philadelphia.

Peter Hines, advertising manager for Princeton Aviation, reported they were "very pleased" with the results. Their pilots finished 11th in a field of 35. It was the first time Dr. Zubrow and Mrs. Shields had competed in the race.

The race originated at Caldwell-Wright airport in Northern New Jersey. From there to Nassau is a distance of 1468 miles.

TOURNAMENT UNDER WAY

At Springdale, play began last weekend in the annual Governors' Cup Tournament of the Springdale Golf Club, with eight teams qualifying Saturday and four surviving the first round on Sunday.

Two-man teams entered, each player being allotted his full handicap in medal play for the qualifying round. At the end of the day, eight teams with net scores of 66 or lower (against par of 71) had qualified.

In first-round play, Don Donahue and Norman Schuele defeated Harry Hall and Jim Love 1 up. A second match that went to the 18th green saw George and Don Young eliminate Kline Fufner and Otto Nelson, 2 up.

Bob Lewis and Dick Leibler triumphed over Roland Smith and Charlie Foster, 5 and 4. Maury Mather and Tom Brophy defeated Bill Wallace and Jim Miller, 3 and 2.

One semi-final match remains to be played in the President's Cup Tournament, with Bill Wilson set to play the winner of the round between Eddie Donovan and Charlie Foster. Meanwhile, the qualifying round for the club championship will start Tuesday and may be completed any day through Wednesday, June 23.

The title will be based on 54 holes of medal play this season, with the last 36 holes to be played June 26 and 27. The men's championship has been based on match play and held in the early fall in the past, but was moved to June this year because it was felt that October was too late.

CONVENIENT for the regular commuter . . . here is a meticulously cared-for home in one of our pleasant neighboring communities. Nice view of fields and woods. Living room with fireplace, playroom, 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths. And when summer comes (it won't be long!), you'll be delighted with the large, cool screened porch. $22,500

MANOR HOUSE . . . this superb old Colonial dwelling is one of those places that everyone who dreams of living in the country would like to own. Only twelve minutes from Princeton, in real farming territory, it stands under magnificent shade trees, behind the long driveway that curves up to the front door. Inside, the beautiful living and dining rooms, the cozy paneled library, the very modern kitchen, the delightful game room with its bar, and its 6 bedrooms and 4 baths — all this lives up to the promise of luxurious living which strikes you when you first glimpse the place. You know that it must have plenty of land for privacy, and it does — 33 acres, approximately . . . But you get the surprise of your life when you stroll out of the vast living room and into the indoor swimming pool annex. In its own brick structure, 60 feet in diameter, the heated pool is big enough for a platoon to splash in. And the flagstone terrace around the pool has enough space for them to sit and feast on steaks from the enormous built-in barbecue. (Sole Agent) $175,000

FOUR BEDROOMS . . . here is a fine home on a wooded lot in one of Princeton's neighboring communities. Living room, dining room, family room with fireplace, bright sunny kitchen, 2½ baths. Ideal for the growing family as it is close to school and among a group of new homes with plenty of children in a companionable age group. $26,000

Partially air-conditioned. $26,000

WE NOMINATE

Edmund Shakesford DeLong, one of the most delightful and best-liked Princetonians of his era, who this month — following some two decades of service — is relinquishing his responsibilities as Princeton University's Director of Public Information. It was in the fall of 1915, after nearly five years of duty with the World War II Navy, that DeLong turned his back on Princeton — to New York commanding, abandoned the "news beat" he knew so well as a senior member of the "New York Sun," and accepted the University's bid to help stage the year-long observance of its Bicentennial in 1946-47.

A member of the almost legendary Princeton Class of 1922, which has produced more Princeton Trustees than any class in the University's history, and points with understandable pride to an amazing number of outstanding educators, doctors, industrialists and public servants, including Adlai E. Stevenson, the Kentucky-born and Missouri-raised DeLong ("A Valentine's Day Baby" in 1900) transferred to the University from the University of Missouri's School of Journalism. Over the intervening span, from the "Roaring 1920's" to the "Questioning 1940's," he has nurtured a deep "dual loyalty" to the so-called "Border States" and to the Town and Gown that have been, and are, his life.

DeLong, the son and son-in-law of Princeton alumnus, "broke into" the Fourth Estate with the "Kansas City Star" and the night city desk of the United Press in Manhattan. Then, for a period of 16 years, with time out for a year as Editor of the "Princeton Alumni Weekly," he was a ranking by-line reporter and editor with "The Sun" of New York whose assignments recall volumes such as "Only Yesterday," "The glamorous, the great and the not-so-great, the heroes and the photo-nics, the Depression and the drift into World War II:

...and was a staff correspondent during President Roosevelt's first term at the Summer White House in Hyde Park, N.Y. To DeLong belongs the distinction of either having interviewed, or having handled press arrangements for, seven of the last eight Presidents of the United States (Taft, Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy).

Now looking forward to retirement, and contentedly playing on golf rather than tennis while preparing to write his first book since he co-authored "High and Low Financiers" in the 1930's, DeLong in his quiet way has long been concerned with Princeton public affairs. A founding member of the Princeton Borough Housing Authority, which he served for a quarter-century, he was for long years one of the handful of Democratic stalwarts who kept the two-party system alive in Princeton, and in the 1950's played an important part in the founding and development of Marquand Park, one of the Borough's major assets.

For his rare capacity for enjoying to the utmost whatever he might undertake, for stimulating in others his own enthusiasm for the things in which he fervently believes, for his contributions to the enwined "pioneer lessons" of journalism and public relations, he is our nominee as
